Subject: WMO Online Course for Francophone Trainers of Regional Association I and other regions, 12 March to 10 June 2018 (online learning event)

Action required: Completed participant nomination forms (Annex III) to be received by the WMO Secretariat before 16 February 2018

Dear Madam/Sir,

You will recall that the Seventeenth World Meteorological Congress (Cg-17) recognized the importance of training of trainers from WMO Regional Training Centers and national training institutions. Cg-17 decided that training seminars and courses for trainers should be continued in the 2016–2019 financial period. The Executive Council and Congress have also encouraged the use of online learning to allow increased participation by Members in training events such as these.

I have pleasure to inform you that an online training course for francophone trainers of Regional Association I and other regions will be offered during the first half of 2018. This year, the course will be offered in French. The online course will allow an increased number of participants and more complete treatment of the full WMO Competency Requirements for Education and Training Providers. The 9-week course will be offered over 13 weeks, in three modules with two 2-week breaks, from 12 March to 10 June 2018. See Annex I for a course description and attendance options.

The goal of this online course is to increase knowledge and skills of WMO Member training professionals in planning, developing, delivering, assessing and evaluating learning activities. After participating in this online course, participants will have enhanced their skills for planning and offering classroom, online or blended courses in their content areas of responsibility for their client communities. The knowledge and skills gained will contribute to the development of the competencies in the WMO Competency Requirements for Education and Training Providers for meteorological, hydrological and climate services, as approved by the Executive Council at its sixty-fifth session, and as described in the 2016 revision to WMO Technical Regulations (WMO-No. 49), Volume I.

To: Permanent Representatives (or Directors of Meteorological or Hydrometeorological Services) of all WMO Regions

cc: Hydrological Advisers to Permanent Representatives

The WMO Online Course for Trainers is designed to be practical and highly interactive. It will include many short readings, activities and opportunities for interaction with facilitators and fellow participants. During the course (Annex I) participants will work on activities and projects relevant to their current responsibilities: such as establishing training development processes, planning a new course or revising an existing one, conducting a needs assessment, developing an evaluation and assessment plan, or developing an informal learning solution (such as coaching, mentoring, or on-the-job training) for a learning audience within their scope of responsibility. Participants will be expected to work independently or in small groups on these and other activities (Annex II).

A nomination form for participants in this online course is attached (Annex III). When completing the nomination form, you are requested to provide information on how the participation of your candidate will benefit your service, how your candidate will utilize the skills and knowledge upon completion of the course and that you have agreed to allow the participant to dedicate the time to complete the course. A note containing general information for participants, as well as the provisional programme schedule, will be distributed to selected candidates at a later date.

The nomination form should be completed and returned to reach the WMO Secretariat as soon as possible and in any case not later than 16 February 2018.

I thank you for the ongoing support of WMO and its Members.

Yours faithfully,

(E. Manaenkova)
for the Secretary-General

WMO Online Course for Trainers for Francophone Trainers of RA-I and Other Regions 12 March to 10 June 2018

Preliminary Course Programme and Learning Outcomes

Three different participant audiences will benefit from this online event. Participants in each track will receive a certificate if all assignments are successfully completed:

- Trainers: Full-time trainers and training developers who dedicate substantial time to training duties (it will be possible to accept up to 30 trainers in the course);
- Part-time trainers: Subject matter experts who contribute to classroom or online courses periodically (it will be possible to accept up to 20 part-time trainers in both courses);
- Training managers: Those who manage or direct training functions or institutions (it will be possible to accept up to 10 training managers; note that the work for trainers and training managers overlap, so participants may apply in both tracks and, assuming both requirements are met, receive both certificates).

The course will be divided into three modules. Those in the category of trainers should complete all three modules. Part-time trainers would need to complete only module 3:

- Module 1: Learning needs and outcomes, and the training process (for trainers and training managers): 12 March to 1 April 2018;
- Module 2: Learning solutions, learning assessment, and training evaluation (for trainers and training managers): 16 April to 6 May 2018;
- Module 3: Learning activities, resources, and facilitation (for trainers and part-time trainers): 21 May to 10 June 2018.

The full 9-week course will address the needs of full-time trainers and training managers. Module 3 will address many needs of part-time trainers. Note that for those in management positions who cannot commit to the full 9-week course, completing only modules 1 and 2 is an option. However, spaces will be limited. Special consultation is requested for this shorter option.

On the nomination form, please note how you intend to participate – as trainer, part-time trainer or training manager.

To ensure effective facilitation and depending on the number of nominations received, a limit of two (2) nominations in each audience category from a Member country may be imposed, if necessary.

Some additional activities may be offered as live online sessions, and may be open for participation by a wider audience.

All participants will be expected to dedicate a minimum of 6–8 hours each week during the course to enable completion of learning and project tasks on a timely basis. The total level of effort for trainers is approximately equal to the time they would dedicate to a 9-day classroom course, but spread over 13 weeks. It is critical to the success of this course that this time is made available to participants apart from their weekly work responsibilities. For this reason, all nominations from Permanent Representatives will require acknowledgement of this time requirement. Participants will be enrolled in the WMO Education and Training Programme e-Learning Website and also expected to be engaged in some pre-course preparatory activities.

Pre-Course (5 to 11 March) Personal profiles, course processes, ice-breaker activities
Module 1 (trainers and managers) 12 March to 1 April
Week 1 The training process, competencies for training providers, project initiation
Week 2 Learning needs
Week 3 Learning outcomes
Module 2 (trainers and manager) 16 April to 6 May
Week 4 Learning solutions
Week 5 Learning assessment
Week 6 Training evaluation
Module 3 (trainers and part-time trainers) 21 May to 10 June
Week 7 Learning activities
Week 8 Learning resources
Week 9 Facilitating training activities

Course Activities and Certificates

Ref.: 44497/2017-1.3 DRA/ETR

General activities required of all participants

1. Viewing all required instructional resources.
2. Contributing to the course online discussion forums.
3. Contributing to all learning activities.

Digital badges are granted for completion of each one-week unit of the course. Certificates of completion are granted for both trainers and part-time trainer tracks. To receive certificates of completion, participants will be assessed on their contributions to a variety of activities and completion of several projects. The coursework is designed to fit the scope of the approximately 6-8 hours per week expected for participation. Examples of activities and projects that may be assessed include:

Modules 1 and 2

- Completing a training skills assessment based on WMO training competencies;
- Analyzing current organizational training development and delivery processes;
- Identifying competencies, job tasks, learning needs, and learning outcomes;
- Create a “think-do-feel” table to help specify desired learning outcomes;
- Choose learning solutions based on training criteria and constraints;
- Create a student learning assessment plan;
- Create a course evaluation plan and associated forms.

Module 3

- Creating a learning activities map;
- Design a classroom and online learning activity;
- Design or redesign a learning presentation and online or print resources;
- Determine solutions to common training facilitation challenges;
- Adapt an online learning resource for use in a classroom or online course;
- Organize a training event for online and classroom delivery;
- Final completion of a training development plan.

During the course, those participating in the trainer track will undertake a project to develop a training development plan for an upcoming course for which they are responsible. This training development plan will be a focus throughout the course, allowing participants to apply the training development process they are learning. Trainers will be assessed on the quality of their completed training development plan as well as completion of the units of the course, and those who are successful will receive a certificate of completion and a transcript identifying the competencies developed during the course.

We strongly suggest that all participants discuss their training development plan projects with their managers before attending the course. This will ensure that the coursework is relevant to their workplace and that there is an organizational commitment of support developing their skills further on the job.

Learning Outcomes

For online, blended, or classroom-based courses in their content areas of responsibility and for their client communities, participants will be able to:

Module 1 and 2

1. Apply a systems approach to analyzing the context of learning and the training development process:
 - Use a systematic process to develop training programs and sessions.
2. Identify and prioritize the learning needs of staff members in their services or region:
 - Analyze learning needs;
 - Specify training needs based on learning needs, organizational priorities, constraints and resources.
3. Specify or adapt competencies and set the learning outcomes.
4. Determine learning solutions based on intended learning outcomes and project constraints and opportunities.
5. Plan and conduct learning assessments.
6. Plan and conduct a course evaluation.

Module 3

7. Design learning experiences for active engagement:
 - Create learning activities based on the learning outcomes;
 - Use online or classroom learning tools and techniques to implement learning activities;
 - Design learning resources;
 - Determine the roles of trainers and learners in the learning experience.
8. Use existing online resources to address learning needs:
 - Identify resources available for training needs;
 - Incorporate existing resources by developing learning supports and accompanying activities.
9. Lead classroom or online learning activities.
10. Provide facilitation, tutoring, debriefing and coaching to support students.
11. Conduct effective asynchronous learning.

General

12. Practice and encourage good online learning habits (scheduling, pacing, online communications, self-direction, etc.).
 13. Develop a comprehensive and convincing training development plan to promote and guide a training project.
